Mystery Solved. Mystery Solved.

Policeman Moore has the fellow who answered the question, "Who struck Walter Eubank?" for he produced the self-same man in the Mayor's Court yesterday, and his name was Edgar Dobbins.

Dobbins said he and Euban's got into a fight and to protect himself he "pasted Fubank twice in the gob." It cost Dob-bins five plunks, which was worth it, for Eubank was a sight.

REUNION WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

stated that The Times-Dispatch was greater than Shakespeare. The great dramatist never said anything about children in his writings. The Lord Mayor of London, years ago, would not have made a speech like the Mayor of Richmond, for the Lord Mayor would have said nothing about children. The Times-Dispatch was always writing about children and giving them a chance to write and to draw. Do your own writing and draw your own pictures, urged the Governor. Do not ask nor permit any one to assist you, it will do you more good and make you more pronicient if you will do the work yourself. The Governor expressed his good wishes for the children and for the club.

Won the Badges.

Won the Badges.

Won the Badges.

Mr. Bryan presented the beautiful badges won by the children of the clu. This is a beautiful solid gold and enamel button with the figure of a hour glass and a wins, significant of the flight of time, and the importance of utilizing it eye it flies. The prize for the best illustrated story was awarded to Master Robert Edward Bruce and presented by Mr. Bryan. The other prize went to master Robert W. Allen, Jr., who was unable to be present on account of sickness. It will be presented to him later.

There was a brief intermission while preparations were made for the entertainment feature, and in this interval Mr. Bryan proposed three cheers for Jake Wells and Mr. Charles I. McKee, of the Biljou Theatre management for the use of the new hall, and the chorus of chidsin cheers demonstrated the appreciation of the children. Major Capers then proposed three cheers for Mr. Bryan, and the children equaled their previous effort, in their spontaneous and vociferous response.

Mr. Henry C. Oakes, of the company.

fort in their spontane.

Mr. Henry C. Oakes, of the company, which is presenting the play, "Running for Office," at the Bilou this week, was here introduced, and gave an exposition of the art of makes up, showing how an actor transforms his appearance before their yery eyes. He first made up the part yery eyes. He first made up the part and then recited Eugene Field's Jim and

Me, and then gave a humorous caricature of the "burn actor" telling of his wa' service. Both recitations and the reake-up lesson delighted the children.

"Very pleased, I am sure, to have helped amuss the children," said Mr. Bobby Harrington, of the Running for Office Company, after he had delighted the children with a song, "If I Were Only Mr. Morgan." The singer was applauded so persistently and repeatedly that he several times returned and gave other instalments of the song, with several local hits.

The instrumental music for the occasion was by the Bijou Orchestra under direction of Mr. Travor L. Corwell, and was a delightful contribution to the programme. The children cheered wild, when the orchestra struck up Dixie, sho "ling an hereditary appreciation of the stirring old Southern air.

Mr. Polk Miller with his Old Southernal Cuerfette contributed half an hour of delight to the children with monologue, banje playing and songs by Mr. Miller and quartette work by the colored singers. The selections rendered were mostly plantation songs and metodick and campmenting airs. Mr. Miller himself saig "Old Dan Tucker," and set the children wild with enthusiam over the words of the old seng, new to most of them, though familiar to their elders.

Altogether the entertainment was theroughly delightful.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WILLIAMSBUILG, VA., December 28.—
Workmen are hard at work repairing the foundations of the building at the Eastern State Hospital, which was found to be unsafe last Sunday night. Only about thirty feet of the central or partition wall is injured, which was caused by the foundation giving away. The outer walls are not affected by it. Jacks are being used to raise the portion of the building which had begun to settle, and the foundation will be repaired as soon as possible. The building was divided into three wards, and contained eighty-six female patients. As soon as it was discovered that the building was unsafe the patients were removed to the other building, and though somewhat crowded, they are comfortable.

Dr. Foster said this afternoon that he expected to have the building repaired in a very short time. Dr. Foster defines that Children Were Delighted.

The children of Montrose Chapel school had a visit from Santa Claus and were made very happy by his kind generosity. The exercises were conducted by Mr. Craig, superintendent, assisted by Mr. Hoeniger, who had charge of the musical and vocal pieces sung by the school. The singing was excellent, assisted by Mrs. Brittle and the choir of the chapel. Miss Gusta Hoeniger practiced at the organ. A great treat was had by selections given by Mr. Gill, from the University of Virginia. Dr. Eggleston gave a very appropriate talk fitting the occasion, and all were well remembered by the Ladies Aid Society, as well as Mr. Craig, from Santa Claus, for their faithful services in the chapel and Sunday school. Every scholar received a gift, and every one in the infant class, numbering over thirty, received a special gift fr. a their teacher, Mrs. Washer, who was detained at home by stokness. The chapel was attractively decorated, and a general good feeling pervaded, which was manifested by frequent expressions of satisfaction heard among the parents and all who attended. This is the second anniversary of the school under its present management.

Policeman Taken by Surprise at Court Session.

Court Session.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Commitment to jall on a charge of murder in the first desree, without ball, was the surprise which greeteg Frank McLaughlin, a patrolman, when he appeared in oriminal court to-day to plead to an indictment charging him with assault upon James P. Robbins, a newspaper reporter. The new charge was based upon an indictment which District-Attorney Jerome said would be returned by the grand jury to-morrow. McLaughlin was once before arrested in connection with the killing of John W. Patterson, a negro watchman. The coroner's jury found that he shot Patterson in self-defense and he was discharged. The District Attorney was not satisfied with that disposition of the case, however, and began an inyestigation, which, he says, has resulted in an indictment charging murder in the first degree. Mr. Jerome said the killing of Patterson was a deliberate murder.
